FOR SALE.—A small and gentle Texas pony. Apply to Paul Garner, Ironton, Mo.

FOUND.—About three weeks ago, a buggy-whip. Owner can get it by calling at this office.

Ninety-seven degrees in the shade makes a very respectable degree of heat, even for mid-summer. The mercury in our thermometers stood at that mark Monday and Tuesday. A fine breeze tempered the day, however.

LESSONS ON PORCELAIN PAINTING AND WATER COLORS.—Professor Ernest Monier, of St. Louis, having a little time to spare, informs the ladies who would like to take some lessons to apply to him at the Ironton House.

Ripley county last Saturday appointed delegates to the State, Congressional, and Senatorial conventions. The Congressional delegates were instructed for Hon. L. H. Davis, and the Senatorial for Hon. Thos. Mahery. Neither gentlemen will have any opposition when the conventions meet.

Last Monday, when the thermometer stood at 97°, and ye printers were perspiring like unto a new-fledged street-sprinkler, friend Hotson walked into our office with a bucket of A. No. 1 ice-cream. He proceeded straightway to distribute the same amongst the editor, the foreman, the juror and the "devil." Think how we appreciated it! Thanks, Bro. Hotson.

The colored folks will give a picnic at Gouffin's Grove on Friday of this week, and they propose to have a good time, too. Noted colored speakers from a distance will be on hand, and the Potomac Brass Band (colored) will dispense music on the occasion. Ample arrangements have been made for suitably entertaining the crowd by their resident friends. A grand ball in the evening will end up the pleasures of the day.

MARRIED.—At the residence of the bride's parents, Thursday, July 8, by Rev. W. L. Port, Mr. CHARLES STOKES to Miss ORA B. BRYANT, of Fort Scott.

Thy will leave on the noon train to-day for their home in Arcadia, Mo.—Fort Scott (Kan.) Daily Monitor, July 9.

We join with the balance of the folks in congratulating Charles, and wish him all the blessings of married life. At this writing he has not returned. But when he does arrive we bespeak for him and his fair bride a reception commensurate with the solemnity and sublimity of the occasion.

The Brass Band picnic on the 5th was a success—one of the few instances of the kind where a postponement is rendered necessary by the weather. About forty showers of rain rendered the 31 rather uncomfortable for outside enjoyment, and an adjournment to the 5th was made imperative. A large crowd of people attended the picnic, and the band realized $50 net from the sale of ice-cream, lemonade, etc. In the evening a tremendous shower interfered greatly with the ball, and yet a large party kept the floor until three o'clock a. m. The band boys return their thanks to the public generally for their kind assistance in "uffing them through," not only on this but other occasions as well.

ELECTRIC LIGHT ON PILOT KNOW.—A few weeks since we announced that the Pilot Knov Iron Company had secured a contract for the Brush electric light, to be used in the tunnel on the Knob. Last Sunday night the managers exhibited it to all the people of the Valley. The burners were placed on the dump near the top of the mountain, and when lighted were plainly visible every resident of Ironton, Pilot Knob and Arcadia. A beautiful light resulted, bright enough to cast a strong shadow a mile away; in fact, it outshone the moon which was well advanced to its second quarter. From where we viewed it, the flame had a light, steel blue (nearly white) appearance. After burning for half an hour, the steam was turned off from the 20-horse power engine which drives the apparatus, and the flame suddenly disappeared.

The following is an introductory paragraph of an article published in last week's "Forest and Stream," entitled "A Relic of Waterloo," by "Cape Rock," of Cape Girardeau, Mo.:

"After reading St. Clair's experience with his post-mortem gun, and enjoying a cool hearty luncheon at the midship of the turkey and the ducks, I leaned back in my rocker and fell into a sweet reverie, retracing life's checkered pathway until I reached my boyhood—there I halted and my first run, climbed the path-covered hills of my native land (Scotland), scented the sweet perfume of the broom, the heatherbell and the hawthorn, heard the warbling notes of the lutes and the thrush as I wandered amidst the vines and bracken, or watched for the rabbits and the hares amongst the bent hills, in fact found myself in the midst of the scenes of my youth, and the central figure around which all clustered was my first, my best gun. It is the awakening of such memories as these that endear the Forest and Stream to its thousands of readers in this and the mother country."

See prospectus of the Forest and Stream in another column.

Henry Kocher, aged eighteen, was severely hurt by the explosion of an "old blast" in the tunnel last Wednesday evening about seven o'clock. The blast had been put in about six weeks before, but, failing to explode at that time, was suffered to remain, as is the custom in such cases. It is thought the jar of the pick caused the final explosion. Kocher was working right over the blast at the time, and his escape with life, and without serious injury, is due to the fact that the hole was not perpendicular, but slanted from him. As it was, he received about twenty abrasions of the skin in various parts of the body, and his blood was sprinkled plentifully about. Dr. Farrar was called at once, but happily he found no use for his amputating instruments, and in a short time had his patient plastered up and in comparatively comfortable condition. The only painful wound was caused by a piece of rock striking the wrist of the fortunate unfortunate youth, and this is not serious. He will be out and at work again in a couple of weeks.

Des Arc, July 11th, 1880.

Ed. Register.—I notice, in your last week's issue, an article from "Gabe," charging Messrs. Buford and Butts with having said that it was the law to divide the offices of Collector and Sheriff. I am not surprised at this, as "Gabe" lives so far back in the woods. I wonder if he knows Christ is dead; he had better write to the REGISTER and find out. Or I wonder if he ever read on the cars; I know men living in the backwoods that never saw them. You ought to have known better, "Gabe," when you heard this report; for you might have known that Buford and Butts have more sense than to make such an assertion; and it would have saved you from exposing your ignorance in print. It is bad policy to run down one candidate for another, "Gabe," you will lose votes by it every time. Besides, if you can show me the man that can prove that Buford said this, I will show you a white crow.

Take a back seat, "Gabe." ISAAC.

PERSONAL.—Mr. R. M. Hunter removed with his family to Annapolis, last Friday.

Misses Ida and Rosa Chiles left for Caledonia, last Wednesday, to visit friends and relatives.

J. W. Eichelberger and J. W. Simons, Esqs., left for their home in Pennsylvania, Wednesday morning. May they have a pleasant journey!

George Beesley, Esq., of Poplar Bluff, and Montgomery Patton, Esq., now of St. Louis, paid their relatives and friends a visit last week.

Judge Bakewell is down from the city spending his vacation with his family at his pretty summer home in our valley. We welcome this able and scholarly gentleman to our city.

Judge Emerson left on Sunday for Jefferson City, where he will be engaged at work on a number of cases he has pending in the Supreme Court, until after the meeting of the State Convention.

Wm. H. Thompson, Esq., cashier of the Boatman's Savings Bank—the largest and soundest institution in the West—spent his Fourth of July vacation with his family at their delightful home in Ironton. Mr. Thompson has a charming family, and his genial companionship makes him, and them, a great addition to our valley.

THE RATIFICATION MEETING.—Pursuant to notice, last Friday night the citizens of Ironton met at the courthouse and for several hours were entertained by speeches from Hon. B. Graetz Brown and Judge Emerson. The weather at the hour of assembling was very threatening, and for an hour or two a big storm seemed imminent. This deterred people outside of town from making their appearance; but, notwithstanding, the court room was well filled with ardent supporters of the great General who will exercise the functions of President of the United States for four years after March 4, 1881. A number of ladies were also present. By unanimous vote Judge Emerson was elected chairman of the meeting, who, with a brief but pertinent and excellent speech, introduced Gov. Brown to the audience. He was received with hearty applause, and his remarks during the evening were received with frequent demonstrations of approbation. We cannot give even a synopsis of his speech; but the main points presented were: the purity and excellence of our candidate as opposed to the tainted characters of the Republican nominees; the records of the two parties; the fraud of 1876; and the demand of the country for peace and harmony of the sections. Said the speaker: "We will elect Hancock and English in November, and will seat them on the 4th of March, next; and, what is more, when the Democratic party gets into power it will stay there for a generation." Now, there isn't a Republican in the land but believes that if the first clause prove true, the second will, as a natural consequence, prove to be the truth, also. He knows that his party has made eternal hate its special mission, and has good reason to fear that the era of good-will which must result from Democratic ascendancy will be as far as that party to the people of the whole country that their votes will retain it in power indefinitely. It was upon this assumption that the speaker based his assertion that "it will stay there for a generation." Yet some of our Republican friends who have an aptitude for finding "mare's nests" when it suits them, pretend to believe that he meant that if the Democracy once gained possession of the governmental machinery it would retain it with force and fraud, as their own party has done. There is too much "boob" in their assertions for patient comment.

At the close of the speech, Gov. Brown was unanimously tendered a vote of thanks, and cheered by the whole audience. The meeting adjourned, and all—the Democrats at least—went home in excellent spirits, assured of a big victory at the close of the campaign.

Ed. Register.—Having been away on a sky-rocketing expedition, I have not had the opportunity to give you the news from our little city.

In the first place I will say, in spite of the rain on the 3d, we had a glorious picnic; in fact it was the most pleasant and sociable picnic ever held in this place; and some went off with their stomachs so full that they did not feel well all the next day from it.

Rev. Mr. Settle, of Fredricktown, made us a fine speech, and it had a little Hancock in it; but not so bad as Gen. Preston, of Kentucky.

We were sorry that we could not attend your ratification meeting, as we are solid for the man that everybody loves.

I notice in your columns that Jos. G. Clarkson is announced as a candidate for County Judge. He will make a good run. He is next to Hancock down here.

Col. T. B. Lowe was in town yesterday. He is still abounding for Buford and Hancock. He expects to attend church to-day. Don't come by town, Colonel.

Judge Kemper was also in town yesterday. The announcement of Joe Clarkson as a candidate for County Judge makes him scratch his head. Go to work, Judge.

Our blacksmith is so crowded with work he has hardly time to draw a long breath, "let him" holler hurrah for Fletcher.

Fletcher men are hard at work for their favorite. Hurrah for Bill.

Robt. Hotson desires us to tell the public generally that he will hereafter, during the season of 1880, have Ice-Cream on hand for sale at his restaurant, every day and night of the week, except Sunday. He will furnish this delicacy by the plate, quart or gallon—in the larger quantities, at very low rates. He will also keep a supply of the various fruits of the season.
